How do contemporary practices of governmentality shape Islamophobia? Bringing together international and Canadian scholars, activists and emerging scholars, speakers explore the implications of British and Canadian state national security strategies for the civil liberties of Muslim subjects, and the ways these regulations shape and reinforce the discourses of Islamophobia.

About the symposium

Click here to RSVP for the symposium. Questions? Contact juliapyr@yorku.ca.